FLOODS IN PRABIE PROVINCES—Floods across the prairie provinces have reached a record high and have caused much and almost damage. The scene on the left is a highway in Manitoba. The water almost reached the cross-arms of the point. A street scene in Morris, Man., is shown center. Residents told it looks as if the Red river will cut on the prairie. Homes along the river banks at Winnipeg were threatened as waters of the Red and the Assiniboine rivers rose to record heights. Here cottages are shown surrounded by water.

HAPPY OVER ITALIAN ELECTION RESULTS—Among the first arrivals from Rome since the crucial Italian election, was Countess Caidi-barco Tucciani, 48, daughter of conductor Arturo Toscanini, who is now after leaving a home at La Guardia field, New York. First to her Milan apartment to vote, she was enthusiastic about the victory of the anti-Communist forces. She will be in the U.S. a month and will busy herself with relief for Italian children.

"TILLER" IS GUEST OF HONOR—"Feller" President Truman's cocker spaniel was guest of honor at the capital city cocker club show at Washington, D.C., and was decorated with a special ribbon bearing the name, "Mr. Minnow". Here, "Feller" seems a bit put out about it all as he is held by Heather and Wallace Scott Graham, children of Brig-Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the president's personal physician.

PILOT CRACKS UP PLANE WITH NARROW ESCAPE—Edward Shaver, 35, Hamilton, Ont., pilot, seen holding crashed plane's "boycock" twice escaped injury. After the plane crashed, he was in a car when a spring broke at 50 m.p.h. The plane coming in for a landing hit wires and headed for Tim Caran in a garden near Wardville, Ont. He dropped to the ground but his foot didn't fall as fast as he did. It was broken by the plane. Here he shows how close the plane came to hitting him. Witnessing the crash from the kitchen window as the plane plowed by Edward Shaver cracked up, Mrs. Caran and her son, Tim, rushed out believing Mr. Caran had been killed. They are examining broken propeller of the wrecked plane. The pilot was unhurt.

AWARDED $25,000—"It was no more than I expected," said Mrs. Caran Smallman of Toronto, Ont., after she received word she had been awarded $25,000 in her bequest of promise suit against the estate of Frank W. Moore. Mr. Moore died three years ago before a proposed marriage with Mrs. Smallman. Mrs. Smallman divorced her husband in 1941, and was to have married Moore, Toronto coal merchant, Oct. 20, 1944. She claimed in her suit that after she had made purchases in preparation for the wedding it was postponed because of illness in Mr. Moore's family. The date was then set for Feb. 24, 1945, but was again postponed for the same reason. Mr. Moore died April 17, 1945, at the age of 42. Net value of his estate was $125,000.
